Novelization

I am a severed head and have just started being a magical girl

- Dreaming of the El Dora parallel universe -

■ Story

When I think of a carefree easygoing parallel universe that has just started, where high school girls live in harmony, I am only a head.

I am Nozomi, a high school girl, and was reduced to my head when I moved to the parallel universe to help my friends. I am fearless concerning the coming difficulties because of my super-optimistic positive thinking!

This is a story of a magical girl with a severed head having great adventures to make her and her friends' dreams come true while they solve refreshingly stupid problems that they face in their dream world.
