New Product from SANKYO
Fever Mobile Suit Gundam—Operation V to be Unveiled

SANKYO Co., Ltd. announced today that it has completed development of pachinko machine Fever Mobile Suit Gundam—Operation V. This new product is scheduled to debut at pachinko parlors nationwide in spring 2015.

Second pachinko title of Mobile Suit Gundam

The long-awaited second pachinko title of Fever Mobile Suit Gundam—Operation V, a collaboration with the legendary and monumental anime Mobile Suit Gundam, will finally be released. Fever Mobile Suit Gundam—Operation V is a complete replication of the televised anime series Mobile Suit Gundam through pachinko.

New gaming performance

This machine adopts the new Fortune frame and a board with various impressive gadgets. The synergy unleashed by the powerful combination of illumination and sound effects creates a mind-blowing gaming experience and performance that surpasses the first title in the series.

Just as with the first title, we worked once again with NAMCO BANDAI Games Inc. to make the video images and clips. The graphics of the computer graphics produced by our team of SANKYO and Gundam creators maximizes the overwhelming potential of the national phenomenon of Mobile Suit Gundam.

Through the new gaming performance, we are confident this new machine will deliver all the allure of Mobile Suit Gundam in a truly distinctive way that is radically different from the first title.

Details will be announced on our special website below from January 2015 onward.
